(IWCMC 2010)

June 28 - July 2, 2010, Caen, France

Technically Sponsored by IEEE/ACM (pending)

The Computer and Network Security symposium of IWCMC 2010 is soliciting original papers describing the state-of-the-art research and development in the area of computer, network and wireless security. Prospective authors are invited to submit original technical papers for oral presentations at IWCMC 2010 and publication in the conference proceedings.

Symposium Chair:	Xiaojiang (James) Du , Temple University, USA, dxj@ieee.org
Symposium Co-Chairs:	Raheem A. Beyah , Georgia State University, USA, rbeyah@cs.gsu.edu

The main objective of this symposium is to promote further research interests and activities on computer, network and wireless security. It is also aimed at increasing the synergy between academic and industrial researchers working in this area. We are interested in theoretic, experimental, and systems-related papers in all aspects of computer and network security.

Scope of the Computer and Network Security Symposium includes, but is not limited to:

- * Novel and emerging secure architecture
- * Cryptographic algorithms and applications
- * Study of attack strategies, attack modeling
- * Key management
- * Intrusion detection techniques
- * Intrusion response, alarm management, and correlation analysis
- * Tradeoff between security and system performance
- * Intrusion tolerance systems
- * Denial of service
- * Distributed system security
- * Wireless network security (WiFi, WiMAX, WiMedia and others)
- * Sensor network security
- * Mobile ad hoc network security

Papers should describe original, previously unpublished work, not currently under review by another conference, workshop, or journal. The accepted papers will appear in the IWCMC 2010 conference proceedings.
